DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of group I, embodiment 2, figure 3, claims 1-3 with claim 1 is generic in the reply filed on 8/4/2005 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Masumoto et al. [US 5,815,060].

Matsumoto et al. discloses an inductance element [figure 4] comprising:

- at least one magnetic wound core having a hollow part [figure 2], which is formed by winding a magnetic ribbon therearound;
- a lead [4] having a cross sectional dimension smaller than an inner diameter of the hollow part of the magnetic core, which is passed through the hollow part; and
- a case [5] with a hermetically sealed structure that accommodates the magnetic core, wherein the lead is passed through the case in a hermetically sealed state.

Matsumoto et al. inherently discloses a clearance between the hollow part of the magnetic core and the lead.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 2832

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matsumoto et al. in view of Uchikoba [US 6,137,389].

Matsumoto et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for external metal member [external electrodes].

Uchikoba discloses an inductance element [figures 1-3] comprising:

- a magnetic sealed body [1] having a hollow part;
- a conductor lead [2] disposed in the hollow part;
- external electrodes [3, 4] disposed at each end of the magnetic body and in electrical contact with the conductor lead.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include external electrode at each end of the hermetically sealed case with the electrode being contact with the lead of Matsumoto et al., as suggested by Uchikoba, for the purpose of providing surface mounting and reducing sizes.
